The Power of a Dream:
How To PICK YOURSELF® For Greatness
Inspiring Students To Do The Things That Inspire Them

We train students to raise their hands in the hope of being picked to provide answers to questions and solutions to problems. Many never unlearn this. We know that successful people reject the idea of waiting to be picked to provide answers, and solutions, yet we still indoctrinate students this way, and wonder why so few are equipped to choose their own destinies, and blaze their own trails. We must begin to teach our young people that you must PICK YOURSELF for greatness.

Rodney's on a mission to inspire young people to do the things that inspire them.

His work with youth has included partnerships with Time Magazine For Kids, The Philadelphia Phillies, and Job Corps. Through his previous employment with the nations largest school fundraising company, he's worked with hundreds of schools, and thousands of students.

If you have some young people you're trying to make a positive impression on, Rodney's all in.

Thank you so much for engaging our students. They learned so much about the principles of being an entrepreneur, and key strategies via the 'PICK YOURSELF' curriculum on how to advance their business positions in the market place. -
Dannel Mitchell, Principal Academic Coach, Harcum Upward Bound
